Preface

BIS 2006 is the 9th international conference on Business Information Systems. This regular event was initiated in 1997 to provide a forum for the exchange and dissemination of topical research in the development, implementation, application and improvement of computer systems for business processes. Its intention is to establish strong foundations for further development of this area through the presentation of solid research results among the scientific community, those involved in business computer applications, and among consultants helping to properly implement computer technology and applications in industry.

Since 1997 BIS has been a meeting of growing significance. As a result of careful planning, team effort, dedication and hard work of a number of key people, this conference has strengthened the standard established a few years ago, and will provide a good base for future events under BIS name.

The BIS 2006 conference offers exciting programme consisting of over 45 selected papers that will be presented during main track of the conference on topics such as BPM, e-Government, e-Learning, information retrieval and filtering, ontologies, software engineering and web services. All papers were evaluated by the Program Committee members. Thanks to their work it was possible to produce a promising conference program of high standard.

Very importantly, BIS 2006 gratefully acknowledges the sponsors and supporters for their crucial involvement and valuable assistance: Alpen-Adria-University Klagenfurt, Industrie-stiftungsinstitut eBusiness, The Poznań University of Economics, Association for Computing Machinery (ACM), Gesellschaft für Informatik (GI) in Germany.

We also express our gratitude to all those people who have helped create the success of the BIS 2006 conference, especially Austrian-Polish Organizing Committee.

Finally, we thank to the people of Koellen Verlag, who had to produce this volume within 2 weeks. That's also the reason, why there was no chance to transform the layout of this volume to the LNI standard.
